Report of Independent Accountant on Internal Accounting Control Required by SEC Rule 17a-5
and Rule 15c3-3

To the Managing Member of Malory Investments, LLC.

In planning and performing my audit of the financial statements of Malory Investments, LLC (hereafter referred to as the "Company") for the year ended December 31, 2005, I have considered its internal control structure, including procedures for safeguarding securities, in order to determine my auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing my opinion on the financial statements, and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission, I have made a study of the practice and procedures (including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures) followed by the Company that I considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (aggregate debts) and net capital under rule 17a-5(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of Rule 15c3-3.

Pursuant to reporting requirements of Rule 15c3-3 relating to the physical possession and control of securities, the Company claims exemption from these requirements based on the exemptive provisions paragraphs (k)(1) of the rule. The Company has engaged only in activities within the scope of the exemption and does not carry security accounts for customers or perform any type of custodial functions relating to customer securities.

The management of the company is responsible for establishing and maintaining a system of internal accounting control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess the Commission's above mentioned objectives. The objectives of a system and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that the assets for which the company has the responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in the internal accounting control procedures or the practices and procedures referred to above, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or the degree of compliance with them may deteriorate.

My consideration of the internal control structure was made for the limited purpose described in the first paragraph and would not necessarily disclose all material weaknesses in the system. Accordingly, I do not express an opinion on the system of internal accounting control of Malory Investments, LLC taken as a whole. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control structure element does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk the errors or irregularities, in amounts that would be material in relationship to the financial statements being audited, may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, I noted no matters involving the accounting system and control procedures that I considered to be a material weakness as defined above.

I understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the Commission to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and my study, I believe that the company's practices and procedures were adequate at December 31, 2005, to meet the Commission's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the use of management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., and other regulatory agencies which rely on Regulation 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, and should not be used for any other purpose.
